Intern Coordinator

$20,000

Terry Linthicum is the youth pastor at Marlboro Friends and the FCNC part-time intern coordinator. He brings energy and enthusiasm to this program for several types of interns -pastors, youth leaders, marketing and media. The Intern Guidance Committee hopes this program will help to develop future pastors and church leaders.

Church

$1,046.57

"We have found great people with a heart for God, Christ centered worship and a desire to grow. Downside, unity is not a strength at this time? Bible studies, prayer and visitation are key ingredients to possibly help with the 'tie that binds' and plotting a future direction. Publicizing 'who we are' is needed." -Rusty Parsons

Lugulu

Friends

Mission Hospital

$2,000

On February 22, Friends Lugulu Mission Hospital marked the opening and dedication of its newly renovated women's ward. The renovated ward has an occupancy of up to twenty-five patients. The clean, well-ventilated ward also has a nurse's station that is equipped with a motion sensor alarm that notifies the nurse in charge of any emergency within the ward.

Turkana

Friends Mission

$2,000

Children learn to write in the sand at Nabakan Primary School and Early Childhood Education Classes in Turkana. The school and classes are sponsored by the Friends Church.

Samburu

Friends Mission

$2,000

The Losuk Empowerment Centre was built primarily with money from NC which was initially raised to drill a well that was later deemed unfeasible. The centre was built as a sustainable project and rent collected would help pay pastor salaries and provide food. In this picture, the centre was unfortunately used as a refugee camp after four herdsman were killed in fighting over cattle at the Samburu border.

Friends

Theological College

$2,500

Over 180 students graduated from Friends Theological College with degrees, diplomas, and certificates on Friday, 21 October 2022. The graduates were drawn from the Kaimosi campus and all six of the satellite campuses. Guest speaker during the graduation ceremony was Stephen Mwangwili, Presiding Clerk of Friends Church—Kenya. The graduation theme this year was “Serving God with humility, not privilege,” drawn from Matthew 18:1-4.

Cuba

$500

Cuban Quakers and FUM Living Letters volunteers from North America celebrate the arrival of American Friends missionaries to Cuba on November 14, 1900, at the harbor in Gibara. Much needed supplies, especially medicines, were taken by the delegates to our Cuban friends

Africa

Ministries Office

$2,500

Turkana in northern Kenya is one of the driest regions of the country. It is a region that has constantly witnessed extreme drought and when it strikes, livestock and locals bear the biggest impact.

Belize

Friends

Center- $1,000

The Friends Church in Belize City has completed its first membership class, welcoming ten new members. These members are among the first Belizean Friends.

Belize

Pastor

Support- $1,800

“We seek and pray to be this kind of church, and faith community, that works in coordinated and even spontaneous ways to create circumstances that provide for the disadvantaged among us to get ahead and succeed, the sick and the broken among us to heal, and the lost among us to find the way of truth and life” -

Oscar Mmbali

Belize

Nikki

Holland- $1,000

Belize Friends Center Director

" Ms Athina Major was a teacher at the school until, in 2019, she took a leave of absence to continue her education and complete her teaching certification. Unfortunately, her education was disrupted because of the Covid pandemic. She returned in September, 2022 not just with new qualifications, but with a renewed passion for the students we serve and the mission of the school. In addition to her role as a teacher, the Belize Friends School Board has also given her the responsibility of doing local fundraising and recruitment for the school. Ms Athina is married to Clifton Major, one of the Belize Friends Church pastoral candidates being sponsored through the Carter Belize Fund to attend the e-learning program at Friends Theological College." -Nikki Holland

Ramallah

$500

Ramallah Friends

Ramallah Friends School opened its first pre-kindergarten center, “Little Friends,” serving three-year-old children—who will hopefully be spending the next fifteen years of their lives growing and learning on the School’s two campuses.
